

To make the most effective use of the set of proposed mitigation projects, all bus service operating in and through downtown Seattle would be re-focused to operate on eleven (11) distinct service paths. These paths are shown in the figure below.

